

I would like to say that the broadcast flag would not in any way be beneficial to me as a consumer all you are looking out for is an industry that is all ready making gross amounts of profit as it is. If the system as it is today is working fine then there is no reason to change. Also this would have a disastrous effect on the National Emergency Response System.